"I mean, if the relationship can't survive the long term, why on earth would it be worth my time and energy for the short term." — Nicholas Sparks